Choice Of Spence For State Board Causes Arguments

AUSTIN, March 31.—(P)—Controversy over the appointment of Col. E. H. Spence of Big Spring as chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers was under study of the senate's committee on governor's nominations today.

The committee spent an hour and a half in secret session yesterday hearing testimony both for and against the appointment. It took no immediate action.

Senator Gus Strauss of Hallettsville, committee chairman, said the fight involved "philosophy." He declined to elaborate.

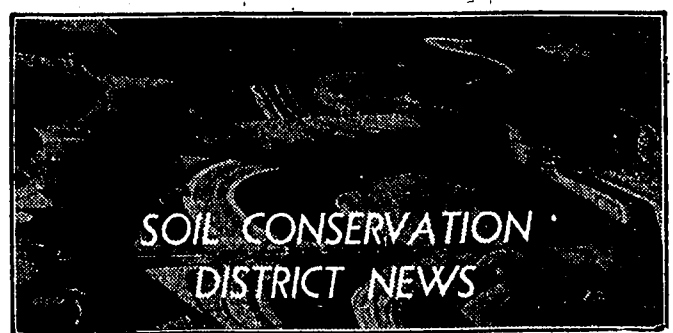

Gov. Beauford H. Jester named Spence to a six-year term ending in 1953.

About 40 witnesses favoring the appointment came from Big Spring, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Odessa, Plainview, Amarillo, San Angelo, Robert Lee, Houston and Fort Worth. The State Society of Professional Engineers was also represented.

About the same number of opponents came from Deaf Smith, Lamb, Lynn, Dawson, Andrews and Gaines counties.

The controversy has generally been kept behind closed doors. It was authoritatively reported, however, to center around the touchy water rights issue in West Texas. Farmers there are strongly opposed to state control of underground water.

Spence denies he has taken that stand but says that a board report has been misunderstood.

Fred Allen Wins In His Fight To Avoid Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK, March 31.—(P)—Fred Allen, busy turning down radio and television offers, has added a new triumph:

"I just talked a guy out of putting me in a movie."

Allen is a fast-talking man with baggy eyes and high blood pressure. The latter is the reason he has decided to bow out of radio after this season.

If he had any doubts about his decision, they were shattered with the sudden death of his friend Jack Kapp, Decca record boss. Show business folk always slow down for a while when one of their number dies suddenly.

Allen's health is not the sole reason he is hopping off the airwaves. "Everything in radio is a turn-moll," he told me. "Nobody knows what is funny."

And there is that favorite topic among star performers—taxes. "I figured out that out of 39 shows a year, I do 31 for nothing. Why should I work so hard just to get paid for those eight shows? I might better be doing guest shots or writing for Jack Benny."

This might seem surprising in view of the Allen-Benny "feud." Among other things, Allen has accused the comedian of being unable to ad lib a belch after a Hungarian dinner. Actually, the feud exists only in such quips. Both admire each other as creative comedians.

Sun Want Ads Bring Results

BOYLE'S Column

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK.—(P)—I would like to trade my education in for a new one, just as you trade in a broken down car for a later model. I grew up in what was supposed to be the most highly educated generation in history. But it appears now that practically everything I learned was wrong.

Today it is hard to believe in anything, because a thing that is accepted as a fact in the morning may be regarded as a superstition by evening.

Let us take a simple subject like the human body, something every normal person has. But how shall you take care of this marvelous machine? Well, what they teach you to do today they'll probably tell you to shun tomorrow.

I was told, on the teacher's word of honor, that a clean tooth never decays. Everybody today knows darn well it will—if it wants to.

The school dentist showed us the right way to brush our teeth—sideways. A couple of years later we were being taught to use a rotary motion. Now my dentist is in favor of brushing up and down. And I am looking forward to a day, coming fast, when I can avoid all doubt in the matter by taking 'em out and soaking 'em in a glass.

Take spinach. Everybody was sure in the days when I played marbles that spinach was the best source of iron outside the Mesabi range. Now practically everybody knows better. Spinach is reduced to eating spinach for pleasure.

Take mold. I was told mold was poisonous. Now if you don't swallow mold three times a day—in the form of penicillin—people get the idea there's nothing wrong with you.

The benefits of sunshine, fresh air and exercise—faiths of my childhood—have been debunked as over-rated. Used to believe people worried and grew thin. No, they worry and grow fat. They used to say, "eat hearty." Now they say that if you do you'll become overweight and won't live long.

As a result of all these changes, a man no longer can afford to do anything to his body without running the risk of being out-of-date before his last wonder pill has been ingested. About the only safe thing to believe is in the circulation of the blood.

What we need is an education that will stand up long enough for a man to earn enough money to go back to college and get another education.

Bill To Provide Power Line Funds Sent To Senate

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(P)—A multi-million dollar appropriation bill for construction of southwest power transmission lines has been sent to the Senate.

The House yesterday approved an interior appropriation bill which gives the Southwest Power Administration a $4,000,000 appropriation. The bill also provides authority for the administration to assume contract obligations for an additional $5,000,000.

The funds are for construction of public power transmission lines in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The SPA markets power from federally constructed flood control dams in the six states. Some of the dams are only in the planning state.

All of the projects are scheduled to be completed in five years. Construction on 51 is to start July 1.

Family Of Former Corsicanan Is Closely Linked With Early Development Of Fort Worth

Friends of the Mrs. P. E. Riley, wife of the former pastor of First Methodist Church, read with much interest Edith Alderman Deen's column in the Fort Worth Press recently concerning Mrs. Riley's connection with the early history of Fort Worth. The article concerning the former Corsicanan was as follows:

"Into the background of Mrs. P. E. Riley (Ethel Isbell) has been woven much of the early history of Fort Worth. Her grandfather, Dr. M. L. Woods, came to Fort Worth in 1853. The first home which her grandfather and grandmother had was the commissary of the fort. It was no longer needed for the soldiers who had been sent to Fort Worth to protect settlers against marauding Indians, were leaving. Mrs. Riley still has the old square piano that her grandparents brought with them by ox wagon from Jefferson, Texas. This, she has loaned to the Fort Worth Children's Museum. She also has a trunk that one of the soldiers in the fort sold to her grandfather as he was leaving. Another prized possession is a sampler that hung in the fort home. It had been made by her grandmother in 1828 and bears that date.

The interesting thing about the sampler is that it now has around it the window frame of an old carriage which was brought in by a refugee relative to her grandparents' home in the White Settlement area during the Civil War. Mrs. Riley also has some of the old Haviland used in Fort Worth in the 70's and 80's by her aunt, Mrs. Jesse Jones. The old Haviland includes a handsome soup tureen with ladle, also soup plates and half a dozen dinner plates to match.

Real Pioneers
The parents of Mrs. Riley were real pioneers of Fort Worth. Mrs. Riley tells of how her grandmother, who moved to the White Settlement about a year after she had lived in the fort commissary, longed for some Irish potatoes. She sent back to her home in Virginia for some seed potatoes, and these likely were the first brought into the White Settlement area. Mrs. Riley's father had a flour mill there.

Mrs. Riley is not sure of the exact site of their White Settlement homestead in the late 50's, but most likely it now lies under the waters of Lake Worth.

Mrs. Riley prizes a china dog which her grandmother brought back to her mother when she went one day to the county seat at Elgin. Because she believes it is pitiable that ordinary things with sentimental and historical value are too quickly destroyed, Mrs. Riley now spends most of her leisure time filling and cataloging things she wants to keep. She has countless scrapbooks, one dealing with the Methodist background of her husband, former presiding elder of the Fort Worth District and now executive secretary of the Reserve Pension Plan for Central Texas Conference.

She also has a large collection of Texas Centennial items, varying from a 10-cent spoon to a Wedgewood plate. All are carefully catalogued. She even has a collection of wartime costume jewelry, also figurines of soap. But most prized of all her collections are those first pieces that were in the fort commissary home of her doctor grandfather, when he arrived in Fort Worth in 1853. These things take on added significance during this, Fort Worth's Centennial year, declared Mrs. Deen in concluding her articles concerning Mrs. Riley.

Bankers, Farmers Discuss Control Of Crop Insects

Bankers and farmers from throughout Navarro county assembled in Corsicana Tuesday night to discuss combatting crop insects.

Meeting in the Navarro Hotel Cactus room at a dinner session, some 60 persons heard County Agent W. H. Walker emphasize the importance of insect control on a county-wide basis.

Production is lagging, it was pointed out, and the cotton yield per acre is about the same as it was 20 years ago despite much expenditure on soil conservation practices.

Therefore, Walker explained, insect control must be included as a major step in cotton production.

O. M. Rector, Corsicana, Cyril Moore of Roane, and Charles Reece of Kerens, explained their experiences in the use of poison as is now recommended.

A general discussion, which highlighted the meeting, stressed the need for inaugurating insect control practices early.

Walker explained the cotton situation in Navarro county, and outlined briefly a 20-year history of production. In 1928, he said, the county had 333,000 acres in cotton with an average yield of 145 pounds per acre, while in 1948 the acreage had dropped to 165,000 with a 140-pound yield.

The meeting was held primarily to get across to the bankers and farmers the necessity of insect control, and plans were outlined for community meetings on the subject.

Joseph Eddy Lipe Due To Be Buried At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, March 31.—(P)—Joseph Eddy Lipe, a sculptor who came to Texas because of stories of Davy Crockett, will be buried here tomorrow.

Lipe, 41, did the bust of Will Rogers which stands in the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum here.

He died in a hospital yesterday. Lipe retired as a professional sculptor three years ago and became a dental technician.

He heard the David Crockett stories when he was a child.

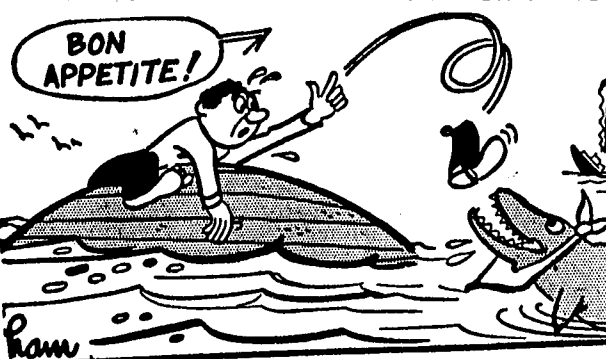

"They roused my interest in Texas and determined to make my home here when I grew up," he once said. He moved here from Michigan 12 years ago.

Loan Shark Your Boot For Life

(AP Newsfeatures)

NEW HAVEN—If a shark hankers for a hunk of your leg, throw him an old boot. Or a shirt, or tin cans, or whatever comes handy. It will satisfy his appetite.

This helpful hint is contained in a new book, "Fishes of the Western North Atlantic," published by the Sears Foundation for Marine Research at Yale University.

It adds that contrary to popular belief, attempts to drive a shark away by blows or by splashing water "are likely to be futile" if the man in the water is bleeding.

The book, the first of a series, deals with the most primitive forms of fishes, including sharks, lancelets, lampreys, and hagfishes.

verbally voracious" sharks that attack man, including "the white shark," beyond question the most dangerous, the tiger shark, lemon shark, and larger hammerhead sharks. The fiercer of the larger ones get excited by blood in the water, and then will attack fish, whales or man. About half of Australia's shark attacks have ended fatally.

"To class sharks 'harmless' as a group, as some authors have done, is contrary to all the weight of evidence. On the other hand, the danger of attack to the ordinary bather is very small indeed except in special localities and under special conditions."

Remember How We Talked?

It went like this at the Hooper's the other night. Hap's eighteen-year-old daughter is talking about "a real gone guy—solid—out of this world, but def."

"Now what kind of language is that?" Hap barks. "Can't she speak English?"

"I'll translate it for you," Ma Hooper says, "in the language of the twenties, when you were about twenty years old. She simply means this fellow is the 'cat's whiskers.' Remember how we used to talk sometimes?" Hap went back to reading his newspaper.

Time Has Arrived When Merchandiser Must Sell Product; No Order Taking

The period of the order-taker is over.

The time has come when the merchandiser must sell the size instead of the stock.

These two potent statements were included in an address made Wednesday before the Corsicana Rotary Club by E. M. Dosser, vice president of the Dr. Pepper Co., Dallas.

Dosser, former resident of Corsicana, and a graduate of the local high school with the class of 1925, discussed "The Sellers Market, and the Transition Into the Buyers Market."

He was presented by R. H. Rutherford, chairman of the program committee.

Dosser, who said he was reared "two axle greasings from Corsicana, at Drane," warned members of the club that "the order-takers are going to have to turn to salesmanship" if competition in a keen market is to be met.

"You remember when things came to the point during the war when the customer had to enter into the seller's market. We are going back now, back to normal, back to where the seller is entertaining the customers," the speaker said.

Although there are still some industries in the sellers' market, namely automobiles, housing and factory building materials, railroad equipment, for the most part the transition from one to the other has been made, Dosser said.

He said that if today's seller is to survive, the buyers' market he must be better than his competition.

Volume is the answer to making profits today, and the answer to how to obtain volume can be broken down, Dosser said. He advised today's merchant and manufacturer to:

1. Go to work.
2. Find more uses for the product.
3. Add more lines.
4. Do a better merchandising job.
5. Provide better service.

"You are finding today that you really have to go out and sell to decrease your inventory," he declared.

Touching briefly on the fight for a prorata part of the consumer dollar, Dosser said his own company is concentrating on obtaining better and higher type salesmen, training them properly, teaching them the market, and stressing regular and courteous service.

He also touched briefly on the current trend in "premium merchandising," which involves giving away products as a means of increasing sales.

"We must realize that competition is here," he said. "We must recognize that the buyers' market is back, and I think it is a good thing."

Dosser's father, S. T. Dosser, of Corsicana, was a guest. Other guests were Mrs. A. B. Conway of Mineral Wells, R. T. Curry, Burney Moore of Purdon, Denny Mc-

Two Youths Held On Check Charge

Two 15-year old Corsicana boys who found check forging "easy" but check cashing not so easy, were behind bars Tuesday.

The two lads did some yard work for a woman here Monday and were given a $2.50 check and advised where to cash it. When they got there, however, they didn't attempt to cash the check.

Instead they obtained a blank check and copied the woman's signature, writing another check for $7.50 to a "fictitious" person.

In statements to assistant County Attorney Seton T. Holsey, the boys told of trying unsuccessfully to cash the $7.50 check at two different stores. Upon questioning by one of the merchants, they admitted forging the check.

Judge A. P. Mays remanded them to the sheriff's custody pending a hearing.

The check they earned—$2.50—is still theirs. It was never cashed.

Kee of Dallas and Charles Graham of Waxahachie.

Visiting Rotarians included Irv. K. Schnatter of East Cleveland, O., Charlie Hervey of San Benito, Jim Robinson of Waco, life member of the Corsicana club, Ronald Cavender and John David were junior Rotarians present.

W. L. Blackwell Rites. Funeral services for William Leo Blackwell, well known retired Henderson county farmer, were held Sunday at Eustace with burial in the Moorhead cemetery. He died in Cottonwood Saturday. He had been a Baptist 60 years.

Surviving are seven sons and three daughters. One son, J. E. Blackwell, resides at Corsicana. Grandsons were pallbearers.

Corsicana Miscues Prove Costly In Sixth Frame Spree

The Athens Hornets handed the Corsicana Tigers a 5-2 setback in Athens Monday afternoon, taking advantage of a shaky Tiger sixth inning to push across three runs and salt away the game.

The Hornets thus gained a split with the Tigers, since they lost the first of the two-game series in Corsicana, 7-3.

Errors hurt the Tigers and were the direct cause of the loss by Coach Bob Payne's crew.

The Tiger hitting was the best of the two teams, and was highlighted by doubles from the bats of Wayne Ganze and Jerral Owens.

"It was just our day for miscues," Coach Boyd Payne said Tuesday.

The score was tied at 2-2 going into the last of the sixth. An Athens batter tripled, and three Corsicana errors followed before the side was retired. That ended the scoring in the ball game.

The Tigers go to Ferris this afternoon for the second of a two-game series with the Ferris high school line. Corsicana won the first meeting between the two teams at Ferris Park.

The Tigers will wind up the week of play against Sunset high of Dallas at the local park Saturday afternoon, April 2.

Payne indicated that he might match another game before Saturday, if he can find a suitable opponent.

Bulldogs Bow To Baylor Cubs, 8-3 Here Wednesday

The Baylor Cubs turned in an 8-3 win over the Navarro Bulldogs at Terrell Park Wednesday night in an exhibition baseball tilt that saw the Vacoans severely tilted in the early innings.

The Bulldogs, paced by Bill Reedy, tossed made the game interesting almost all the way, but their support was not as strong as that of the visitors.

Navarro errors played a large part in the defeat. The local team showed lack of polish. The game might have been much closer but for these mistakes. In the sixth Navarro got four men on base, only to have each base-runner picked off before he got to third base.

Navarro fans were still pleased with the Bulldog showing. They looked good in a number of departments, including at the plate, where they picked up two Baylor pitchers for 8 hits. Bill Reedy went the route for Navarro, whiffing 15 batters. The visitors got to Reedy for 10 hits, two of which were round-trippers.

Baylor picked up the first score of the game in the second, when Bobby Stotts homered over the left field fence, and added two more runs off four hits and two bobbles in the fourth frame. Navarro got its first tally in the bottom of the fourth, when Charlie Smith got on base on Guthrie's error, advanced on Wayne Watkins' single and scored on another miscue by Guthrie.

In the sixth Navarro made its best bid of the ball game. Vinson made first on another bobble by Guthrie. Holland singled behind him, but Vinson was picked off at second. Charlie Smith's single sent Holland to second, and he was picked off trying to stretch to third on a long pop from right field. Wayne Watkins then walked, but was picked off first to retire the side.

Baylor combined three hits and two Navarro miscues. In the eighth to pick up four runs and widen the margin to 7-1. Navarro got one in the bottom of that frame when Jack Holland got on base via Moore's bobble, and scored on a long double to center by Charlie Smith.

Baylor's Hubert Powell homered in the top half of the ninth to make it 8-2. Then, with two out in the bottom half, Navarro picked up another run when Reedy singled and then scored on a beautiful double by pinch-hitter Lloyd Longino. Frost flied out to retire the side and end the game.

The Bulldogs got to Terrell on Thursday afternoon in a return game with Texas Military. The Vacoans registered a 14-5 win over the TMC crew here Tuesday night.

Sheet Metal Men Resume Working

BEAUMONT, March 31.—(AP)—Sheet metal workers who have been out since March 1 were to return to jobs today.

Approximately 1300 workers at Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange, members of Local 196, were to return to work while wage negotiations are resumed with the assistance of a federal conciliator.

The union is asking an increase of 25 cents an hour. Contractors have offered 2 1/2 cents.

Grasshoppers Due To Be Numerous In Texas Shortly

COLLEGE STATION, March 31.—(AP)—This appears to be the worst of the grasshoppers, H. G. Johnson warns.

Johnson is state grasshopper control leader and head of the Texas A. and M. College department of entomology.

The grasshoppers will begin to hatch in South Texas in about two weeks. Texas can look forward to the worst infestation in 10 years, he said.

Johnson's warning follows a count of eggs by the U. S. Department of Agriculture grasshopper control division.

Areas along the Brazos river between Waco and Richmond are the worst. The Texas A. and M. College department of entomology has the worst infestation of the big, yellow differential type grasshopper.

Creek bottoms as far east as Tipton are badly infested. The grasshoppers are expected to have scattered outbreaks.

West Texas, the South Plains and the Panhandle will have a smaller but above-normal number of hoppers, the count shows.

Johnson suggested dusting along fence rows and ditches where the grasshopper hatches for control.

He said effective dusting agents are counts of 10 per cent toxaphene or 15 pounds of 10 per cent chlordane per acre.

Water Pours Over Spillway At Dam Near Longview

LONGVIEW, Tex., March 31.—(AP)—Lake Cherokee varied from a half mile to a mile and one-half yesterday when water poured over the concrete spillway. This was approximately four months after the earth filled dam was completed.

Cherokee Water Co. officials said water was 30 feet deep above the dam and was backed up about 11 miles upstream. The dam is 45 feet high at the center and 4,400 feet long.

The lake was built by a private corporation with 1,500 stockholders, largely in Gregg and Rusk counties. It provides an industrial water supply, a fishing, boating and recreation center.

RENTS

so that rent ceilings are not necessary. Woods will take them off. But if rents pop up, Woods will put ceilings back on.

Housing officials are surveying 400 of landlord incomes probably will require several weeks. Until it is completed, no landlord will know whether he qualifies for a rent boost.

Woods concurred with President Truman in signing the extension act late yesterday, the president issued a statement calling it "an effective" law, well equipped with enforcement teeth, and a "crushing defeat for the real estate lobby."

The rent agency understands that Congress intended some liberalization of ceilings, a spokesman said. There is no ground, he indicated, for the belief voiced by some Republicans during the debate that the "fair income" guarantee might mean merely the continuing of the present standards.

On this point, Mr. Truman's statement said the law will help "to correct injustices against landlords."

"In particular, the act will be helpful in the case of any small landlords who may not be obtaining an adequate net operation income," the president said.

The Truman statement was notable for its conciliatory tone. It was completely in line with the new White House policy of kindness to Congress.

He did not denounce the "home rule" provision, even though he charged last week that this decontrol device was backed by the real estate lobby as a means of scuttling rent control.

Instead, Mr. Truman described the system as one which extends the principal of the local rent advisory boards—a grant of greater authority to local officials to say whether federal rent control is no longer needed. Decontrol decisions by cities, towns and villages must be approved by state governors.

An Associated Press survey of governors and big-city mayors indicated that most of them will move slowly in using the local decontrol machinery.

The president did not discuss the failure of Congress to grant the two-year extension he requested, but it is usual to allow criminal action against rent violators.

Local Collegians Annexed Opening Tilt On Home Lot

By TALMADGE GANANT
Sun Sports Staff

A good crowd braved a chill south wind Tuesday night at Terrell Park to watch the Navarro Bulldogs trim the Texas Military College nine, 14-5, in the home debut of the season for the local collegians.

After lagging behind in the early innings, Navarro broke into the lead in the third frame, and never headed after that. The Bulldogs wore out two TMC pitchers in the lengthy tilt, which went almost three hours when the latter frames of the game saw Guyle Akridge's crew take hold of the batter's box and spend most of their time in town.

At first it appeared that Navarro would have a hard time with the visitors. Valentino, TMC lead-off man, blasted the third pitch of the ball game over the left field fence for round-tripper, the only one of the ball game. The visitors followed up in the second frame with three runs off three singles and three walks. Navarro got two hits in the second, and then broke into the lead in the third with a four-run spree off a double, a single, four walks and one TMC bobble.

Hodges Went Route

George Hodges went the route for Navarro, albeit weakly, but he had plenty of support. Paradoxically, he seemed to strengthen as the game aged, and ended up much better than he started. Rivers, the left fielder, played in the seventh, and was relieved by Boston in the eighth. Boston drew credit for the loss.

Navarro's batting and very good fielding made the difference in the game. The Bulldogs got hits in the pinches, and committed only one error during the full nine innings.

Frost and Jack Holland collected the best hitting records of the night for Navarro. Frost collected two doubles and a single in four trips, and Holland got two for four.

taxes like everyone else, and we don't want to bankrupt our nation.

Langue pointed out that pensioners already are provided for veterans and that more than 100,000 of them now draw pensions. Any veteran reaching 65, who is unemployable and earns less than $1,000 yearly if single or $2,500 if married, and has a wife or child dependent, is automatically considered 10 percent disabled.

The question of paying a pension automatically to all veterans 65 or over, regardless of need, naturally involves the operation of the social security act. Some opponents said passage of the Rankin bill would complicate chances of legislation broadening social security coverage.

Teague's war record won him three silver stars, two bronze stars, the purple heart with two clusters, Croix de Guerre, Combat Infantry badge, French Legion of Honor, and army commendation ribbon.

Teague got a reserve commission upon finishing Texas A. and M. College in 1932. He is married and has a young daughter and two sons. Mrs. Teague is the former Freddie Dunham of Fort Worth.

Although he has to use a special shoe and walks with a limp because of an ankle shot away by German snipers, Teague keeps in trim by playing a fast handball game in the house gymnasium with various Texas collegians.

He will be 38 April 6.

There's Profit And There's Loss; This Is All The Latter

And she didn't get to keep the dress.

Teachers Name H. C. Allen As New President

H. C. Allen, principal of the Junior High school, was elected president of the Corsicana Teachers Association at a meeting of that group Tuesday afternoon.

The organization met in the senior high library and accepted unanimously a slate of officers for the next term as submitted by a nominating committee.

Other officers are: Miss Anna Belle Kiber, vice president; Mrs. Bufa Fritch, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Ballard, George, secretary.

The outgoing president, J. H. Compton, presided at the hour-long session which also featured reports from delegates who attended the district convention of the Texas State Teachers Association in Temple recently.

Giving reports were Helen Bonner, who summarized various speakers' subjects, and Hazel Holsey, who reported on the House of Delegates.

The reports told of resolutions adopted at the convention favoring the state legislature, favoring federal aid—without federal control—and proposing a set of standards and entrance requirements for teachers.

Minutes of previous meetings of the local group were read by Lizzie Rae Osborne, outgoing secretary.

Supt. W. H. Norwood praised the faculty members for the improvement made in their "professional attitudes."

He expressed hope that some of the educational programs featured in recent years can be reinstated in the school system here in the future.

Reporting briefly on the school separation plans, the superintendent declared "there can be an improved program of education if we can get the state legislature to pass the Glimmer-Alken legislation, Norwood said, "will provide better days ahead."

The superintendent told the teachers that the situation here is getting better, and he advised the faculty members that there would be a place for them in the school next year if they wanted to return.

IF OTHER COUNTIES OVER
TEXAS AND IN OTHER STATES
CAN GET ENLARGED COUNTY
HOSPITALS TO MEET INCREASING DEMANDS ...
WHY CAN'T NAVARRO COUNTY DO IT?

The answer to this "ALL IMPORTANT QUESTION" will be known on April 12th, when Navarro County will be given the opportunity to vote for the Navarro County Memorial Hospital.

This much needed project for suffering humanity will have 100 rooms, modernly equipped in every particular and ready to serve the country when sickness and suffering enters the home.

This Memorial Hospital will cost $1,200,000, with $650,000.00 already in the bank - - with the balance of $550,000.00 to be voted upon on April 12th.

Any good business man or woman who is interested in preparing a Modern Hospital for themselves and the County, and are patriotic and unselfish will be glad to vote for this Memorial Hospital.

If Others Can Do It In Other Counties—Why Can't We?

The Navarro County Citizenship is just as smart, patriotic and unselfish as those who secure such needed projects in other counties.

REMEMBER: We can't build or do anything by finding fault, nor can we get anything by saying the project is O.K. - - "If" - - or it is O.K. "But", etc.

You can't build the Navarro County Memorial Hospital with "IFS" and "BUTS" - - its going to take business judgment, patriotism, unselfishness and common sense to get the Hospital.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. one of the main reasons that inflation has been temporarily held off.

The proposed program, he added, has had a good effect already.

Nourse to Stay

Dr. Edwin C. Nourse is not resigning as chairman of his council of economic advisers.

That was in response to a question. Nourse has been reported at odds with other members of the council—Leon Keyserling and John D. Clark. For one thing, Nourse is reported to be less inclined to favor anti-inflation controls.

Despite Mr. Truman's contention that his price-rationalizing program has not been shelved, there are strong indications at the capitol that support for it there is weakening.

Several key Democratic senators told reporters in interviews prior to the president's news conference that they believed the nation is in for a period of "healthy readjustment" that probably has removed any great need at present for the controls.

"There can be no doubt that recent price decreases have reduced demand for controls," a reporter O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) told a reporter.

Chairman of the joint senate-house economic committee O'Mahoney previously had urged the standby authority for the president to invoke selective price and even wage controls to meet dangers of inflation.

Senate Democratic leader Lucas, of Illinois, said the presidential controls bill it not on a list of measures now being pushed.

And Chairman Maybank (D-GS) of the senate banking committee said any hearings on controls probably will be delayed for some time.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the expenditures committee, said in a separate interview: "Frankly I think the danger of inflation is past."

All four Democrats agreed with Secretary of the Treasury Snyder's press conference estimate yesterday that the nation is "undergoing healthy readjustment" and the business outlook is for continued prosperity.

No Tax Cut

Snyder said the government could not lower its tax revenue total. That was an apparent rebuff for congressional suggestions of new tax reductions. But at the same time the secretary made no mention of President Truman's earlier demands for $4,000,000,000 of new taxes.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the economic advisers to the president, failed to plug for government controls yesterday after a White House talk with the president.

Nourse said inflationary dangers still are "possible." He listed as possible causes a big increase in federal spending, big wage increases or a serious crop failure.

Chairman O'Mahoney of the congressional economic group said the factors mentioned by Nourse "do exercise inflationary pressure" but added that if congress wants a peaceful world it must continue to spend billions for European recovery.

He said authorization of "an additional five billions for the Marshall plan, or even four billions, as urged by some, is bound to bring substantial demand for commodities.

repeat the Taft-Hartley act and replace it with a modified Wagner Act has been approved by the House Labor committee. But it's up to the rules committee to say when and under what procedure it will allow the House to begin debate. Since Tuesday it has been holding hearings on this. Chairman Sabath (D-Ill) of the rules group called the deliberations a filibuster and another member agreed. Others just grinned.

Surveys of Congress by the American Federation of Labor indicate serious doubt the bill will be passed by Congress. One AFL poll of the Senate showed 38 senators for repeal, 46 against, and 12 doubtful.

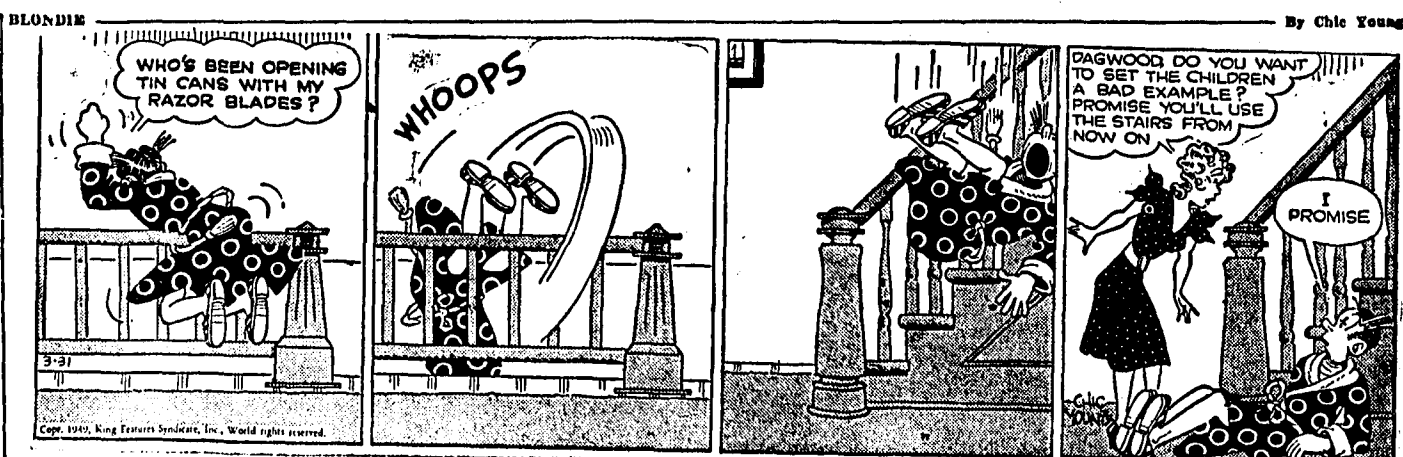

The House Veterans Affairs committee called veterans administration officials to testify on proposed pensions for World War I veterans. The measure is a watered-down version of the pension bill vetoed down by the House last week.

Bellylaughability—Humor Yanks Diners Away From The Serious Things In Life As Ed Harding Tells Knife And Forkers Funny YarnsBy BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff

Members and guests of the Corsicana Knife and Fork Club jammed the country club Monday night to find out for sure if America is losing its bellylaughability.

It might or it might not, but one thing emerged in the clear: America, or at least this little blackland segment of America, isn't losing its bellylaughability.

Ed Harding, a tobacco grower and a little bit of everything else, of Washington, N. C., a professional ha-ha, ho-ho man who hit the lucrative lecture highroad, was the final offering of the 1949 season.

It was a nice choice.

Harding's subject was "America Losing Its Bellylaughability?" Risibility, for the benefit of those lacking inclination to thumb through the big and authoritative tome, is "the quality of being risible (well, that's clear) or able or inclined to laugh."

Corsicana members removed fear and doubt. Last night they indicated they still are both able and inclined.

It cannot be said that Harding left a message with his audience. It cannot even be said that Harding said anything of lasting value. In fact one finds it hard to decide whether Harding used his rare bits of seriousness to illustrate his jokes, or his jokes to illustrate his logic. And it doesn't particularly matter.

The North Carolina man, who has done a lot of general store sitting in his time, proved a popular selection for the final program of the year. It is not enough to say he left them laughing, which in itself is a gigantic task.

He left them that way, to be sure, but the woman walked better.

"I am so weary I wish I could rest my head on Lazarus' bosom," she said.

The preacher tried to straighten her out on her biblical resting places.

"I am afraid you are mixed up, that's Abraham's bosom," he corrected.

"What difference does it make, I'm a widow now" she cried some more.

One more sample is probably ample.

The tobacco-growing country was dying for lack of rain, when the congregation of a church begged its city bred pastor to pray for rain. He prayed. It rained. It rained that night and the next day and the next night, and washed up all the tobacco and otherwise created havoc.

"That's what we get," a member of the congregation complained, "for having a preacher pray for rain who don't know nothing about agriculture."

Harding launched his laugh-course with a quick description of the 32 wives of United States presidents. All of them, he said, "had risibility."

He took them from Martha Washington ("her first husband really should have been called the Father of Our Country. He furnished all the money") right on down to Mrs. Harry Truman, "quite a gal in her own right."

Of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt he said "she was the smartest and the brainiest ever to be in the white house, but she had some of the darndest fool notions."

He touched on romance. In fact, he favored it greatly. He stirred mean gleams in the eyes of many a woman as he advised the men to do something besides "once a year standing up at a Rotary meeting and saying 'I have as my guest my wife Annie.'"

Ed Harding rang down a good curtain.

He told 82 jokes, which is harder than growing tobacco.

But, it is to be presumed, it is a lot more fun.

SID McMATH
Arkansas GovernorJaycees Go To Galveston For Annual Meeting

A group of Corsicana Jaycees left here Wednesday afternoon to attend the 22nd annual convention of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce in Galveston.

Nearly 2,000 delegates are expected to attend the event, at which Gov. Sidney S. McMath of Arkansas will give the keynote address.

The Corsicana Jaycee President Tom Paschal will head the local delegation. Others attending will be Virgil Reece, a state director; Horace Cowan, executive secretary; Bill Kemp, and all of their wives; and Tommy Beach, director.

Reece will lead the Corsicana group during the "Parade of Cities" affair.

Highlight of the meeting will be an election of officers. Paschal has been appointed on the state nominating committee, which will select next year's president.

The convention gets under way Thursday and will last through Saturday, April 2.

Gov. McMath, who came out of war service with the Silver Star and Legion of Merit for his campaigns at Guadalcanal and Bougainville, where he received a battlefield promotion to lieutenant colonel, formerly was prosecuting attorney at Hot Springs, Ark. He took office as Arkansas governor at the beginning of this year.

Several other speakers also will be featured. The inaugural banquet is slated Saturday night at the Galvez hotel.

The Corsicana group will stay at the Buccaneer hotel, returning here Sunday.

Rev. Jack Goff Gives Support To New Hospital

The Navarro County Memorial Hospital has been endorsed by Rev. Jack Goff, pastor of the North Side Baptist church, as a project that "is beyond doubt the greatest and most worthy undertaking the Citizens of Navarro county have undertaken in many years."

In a letter addressed to Dr. Gurley H. Sanders, Kerens, chairman of the advisory board, the Rev. Mr. Goff writes as follows:

"It is a pleasure to endorse something that is for the good of all humanity. This county has been in need of hospital facilities adequate to care for the needs of the county and surrounding territory for a long time."

"The entire population is appreciative of the fine work that has been rendered by our three local hospitals. At the same time we are conscious of the fact that these are limited in what they can do because of the lack of facilities."

"For us to oppose the move for a new hospital at this time, knowing that the needs are so great, would be both inhuman and unchristian. The Savior of men stamped His approval on such a ministry and in His ministry here on earth made it a main point of emphasis."

"The hospital project is beyond doubt the greatest and most worthy undertaking the citizens of Navarro county have undertaken in many years."

"I heartily endorse the voting of bonds and pledge my support in every way to the campaign."

Plans Completed To Have Hospital Bond Issue Pass

Preliminary plans for an intensive campaign in Corsicana for the $500,000 bond issue, April 12, the county's part in the $1,200,000 memorial hospital, were made at a meeting of the steering committee Tuesday morning.

It is planned to have local organizations and workers delegated to certain phases of an all-out campaign to attract the voters to the polls for this important election.

Louis Wolens, chairman of the committee, presided.

Reports were also received from contacts and meetings outside the City of Corsicana, and meetings and conferences will be held from time to time.

A number of local chairmen have been appointed and are perfecting their organizations for this campaign to provide a "living memorial" to the Navarro county war heroes.

The following letter has been received by Chairman Sanders from Curtis R. Patterson, Frost civic and business leader, relative to the hospital question:

"The people of West Navarro are beginning to realize the splendid opportunity of securing adequate hospital facilities for the people of our entire county. We here in Frost feel that this renewed interest in the project is a good sign, people are beginning to ask questions and groups of men are to be seen discussing the proposed Navarro County Memorial Hospital."

"A splendid opportunity to serve humanity is now before the people of Navarro county. The proposed Navarro County Memorial Hospital will help fulfill our responsibility to our fellowmen. Such an institution will furnish every citizen of our county with adequate medical protection and justifiable pride. How can we, as good citizens, afford to pass up such a splendid opportunity to better ourselves and to provide for those in need?"

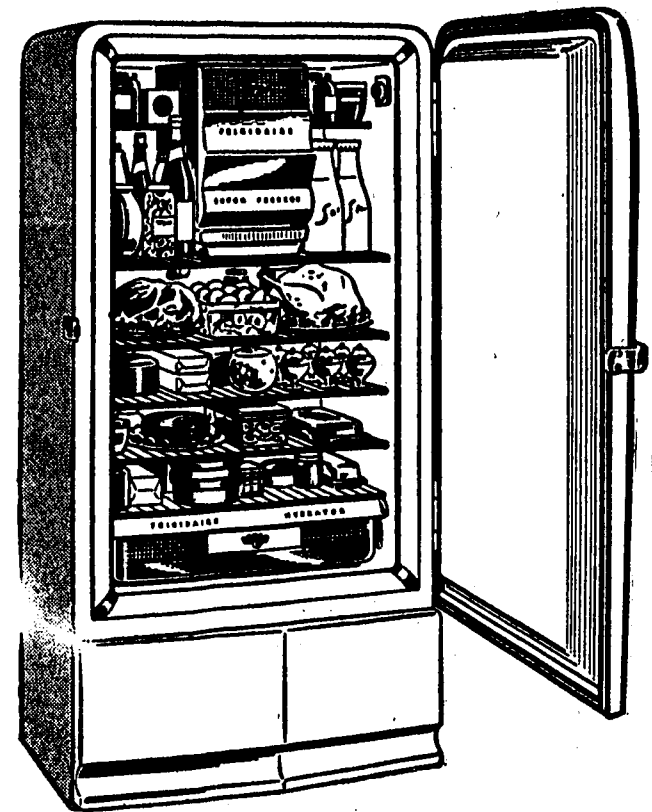

"Dr. Sanders, the entire county appreciates your noble efforts in this great campaign. We realize that you and your entire working committee have given many hours of your time and much of your energies to this cause. May we here in West Navarro extend to you our sincere appreciation for this fine work."
